THE INTERNATIONAL CONSORTIUM OF INVESTIGATIVE JOURNALISTS WINS GOLD KEYBOARD IN 2017 NEW YORK PRESS CLUB JOURNALISM AWARDS

"The Panama Papers: Politicians, Criminals and the Rogue Industry that Hides Their Cash" by the International Consortium of Investigative Journalists from the Center for Public Integrity, is the grand prize-winner of the New York Press Club's 2017 Gold Keyboard. This year, the NYPC's highest award, presented for outstanding journalism across all media, honors the ICIJ's investigative collaboration of more than 300 reporters on six continents to expose the hidden infrastructure and global scale of offshore tax havens.

An additional 90 winners in 38 categories were drawn from among the 460 entries submitted by TV, radio, newspapers, Internet, magazines and newswire newsrooms throughout New York City and the U.S. This year's New York Press Club Journalism Awards also included special categories for coverage of the 2016 Presidential race. The trend towards more entries from digital news organizations, along with crossover work from traditional newsrooms, continued this year.

The awards will be presented at the Club's Annual Awards & Installation Dinner - Monday, June 5th at Manhattan's Water Club, 7 p.m. cocktails, 8 p.m. dinner.

"There are a lot of firsts this year, and they attest to the esteem in which our awards contest is held by colleagues from across the country," said NY Press Club president Steve Scott. "The number of entries and the exceptional scope of much of the material received, tells us that outstanding working journalism is by no means lagging, even in these tumultuous times for the craft and the industry."

The investigation that produced "The Panama Papers: Politicians, Criminals and the Rogue Industry that Hides Their Cash" exposed offshore companies linked to more than 140 politicians in over 50 countries - including 14 current or former world leaders.
